How a signal becomes a warning

Every input flows into one regional server, which sends small messages out over routes that still work with one bar or none.

Built and tested · Built, not wired in yet · To build · Needs a partner agreement

Every alert names its sources and how old each one is. A missing feed shows as a gap, never as "no fire".

What happens to one alert

Each question the system asks, in order. The same rules keep both permitted burns quiet and page the district for the real fire.
